

Hayden David OPIE AM

Sports Law Educator and Consultant Senior Fellow, Melbourne Law School Arbitrator, Court of Arbitration for Sport

Hayden Opie is a Senior Fellow at the Melbourne Law School where he established and led the teaching of sports law from 1987 to 2017. He has taught and researched in all areas of sports law and is recognised internationally for his work in the field. He now concentrates on sports integrity and has extensive experience in anti-doping, having served as a legal member of the Australian government's Anti-Doping Rule Violation Panel from 2010 to 2015. He was the founding President of the Australian and New Zealand Sports Law Association and is a member of the Court of Arbitration for Sport. On 26 January 2018, he became a Member of the Order of Australia "for significant service to education as an academic specialising in sports law, and through roles with integrity, anti-doping and appeals tribunals."
